PROFILE

I’ve been passionate about technology since childhood, captivated by how everyday tools like web pages and mobile applications function, as well as the intricacies of advanced innovations such as artificial intelligence or quantum computing. Over the years, I’ve honed my skills in a wide array of software development tools, coupled with a knack for generating innovative ideas within these platforms. Along the way, I’ve developed a strategic mindset for designing and optimizing algorithms for systems and applications. What excites me most is the challenge of crafting complex, elegant solutions using the best technologies.

EXPERIENCE

- FRONTEND DEVELOPER
Purpura Analytics | January 2021 to June 2021

At this company, I developed innovative solutions for a tequila manufacturer, streamlining and optimizing their entire production process. This involved leveraging tools such as React Native, the Scandit SDK, and agile methodologies to deliver efficient and scalable results.
- FULL STACK DEVELOPER
Itelisoft | June 2019 to April 2024

In this company, I developed innovative solutions for various companies, leveraging technologies such as Angular to build robust web applications. I also designed and developed mobile applications using Ionic and React Native, successfully deploying them on both Android and iOS platforms. Additionally, I developed and managed APIs using frameworks like Express and Laravel, and designed databases both SQL (MySQL) and NoSQL (MongoDB). I utilized tools like Git for version control and applied agile methodologies such as SCRUM to ensure efficient development. Moreover, I deployed services on platforms like AWS and Firebase, and published applications on the App Store and Google Play, ensuring optimal performance in production environments.
